"Cleveland cannot carry Indiana against Harrison. Not in a thousand years."—Senator Voorhees.

The delightful little warm spell we are having is giving general satisfaction to the vineyardists.

If Mrs. Gladstone had any spunk she would see to it that the only hand her husband kissed was her own.

In union there is strength. This is a very old aphorism, but one that the raisin growers of the state will do well to observe.

The Democratic lawmakers may be able to discuss a theory, but they are woful failures as encouragers of manufacturing enterprises.

The Expositor comes out second best in its argument on prunes. It is evident the evening paper was not so full of its subject as it supposed.

Easterners visiting California in the summer complain of the heat. They don't complain at home; they are sunstruck before they get a chance.

The Democratic congress, chosen on account of its promises of economy, has failed signally to fulfil its promises. Let the voters remember this next fall.

It is stated that Chris Evans is looking for the detectives and deputy sheriffs, but can't find them. "Where are they at?" he is reported to have asked mournfully.

A Los Angeles paper wonders why bloodhounds were not used in the chase for the train robbers. Probably a humane interest in the bloodhounds' health was the cause.

The lightning has tried four times to kill James Willis of Mount Sterling, Ky., but failed ignominiously. It is remarkable that the lightning will persist in trying to kill a man who can survive copious daily imbibitions of Kentucky whisky.

The Democrats down in Texas had a dear old-fashioned convention last Tuesday. The meeting split into two factions and then started in to carve and shoot each other. Unfortunately order was restored before any of them received any glorious wounds.

The commission men of San Francisco have at last succeeded in bringing about the discontinuance of the auction plan of selling fruit and will be able to bulldoze the grower once more. It must be acknowledged that the growers have themselves to blame for this.

Things are not what they should be in Tennessee, according to the opinion of Democrats. Governor Buchanan of that state has announced himself as an independent candidate for governor, and the result will probably be the election of the Republican candidate. Another weak spot in the "solid south."

A tinware factory employing 200 people has been started at Collins, New York, by Mrs. L. A. Johnson. The list of manufacturing enterprises started under the McKinley tariff is a large one. It is not reasonable to suppose that the thousands of workingmen whose condition has been bettered by protection will vote against it.

Some of the Southern California editors are slopping over in their sympathy for the man who murdered young Ira Wall in San Bernardino county recently. The crime of Walters was a cold-blooded and cowardly one, and without any mitigating circumstances. It is such misdirected sympathy that is responsible for the increase in crimes of this kind.

Wages are about 100 per cent higher in the protected United States than in free trade England. It is natural therefore that the Republicans, who have the welfare of the country at heart, wish to perpetuate the protective tariff. The workingman has had ample time in which to observe and experience the beneficial effects of protection and will endorse it at the polls next November.

The Chicago News, Democratic, does not like the free trade plank in its party's platform and expresses its dissatisfaction as follows: "The effect of the out-and-out free trade plank in the Democratic platform is gradually becoming apparent. Voters who favored the moderate policy advocated by President Cleveland in his message to Congress have become alarmed and are flocking to the protection banners. They prefer McKinleyism to Cobdenism."

The unscrupulous Democratic papers persist in their wicked attacks upon Pension Commissioner Raum in spite of the result of the investigation into his acts. They do this, of course, in order to reflect discredit upon the administration of President Harrison, one of the cleanest and the best the country has ever had. The charges against Raum were trumped up by Representative Enloe of Tennessee and made so little impression on his colleagues, that they refused to give them their attention, much less to pass a resolution asking Raum's removal from office. There was not a particle of evidence that Commissioner Raum had maladministered his office, and the rebuff given Enloe by his own colleagues amounted to a thorough vindication.

If the voters do their duty next November not one of the Holdfasts will be re-elected to office. There is no indication that the opposition to the court house ring on the part of a large number of Democrats, so evident a few months ago, has subsided, and there is no reason why it should subside. The members of the ring have grown old in office and have of late years done their work in a slipshod way, as the report of the experts appointed by the supervisors to examine the county records shows. Besides this several of their number were instrumental in having passed those amendments to the county government act so offensive to the taxpayers of this county; and to cap the climax, nearly all of them have been and are guilty of flagrant nepotism. By using their influence with the county governing body of their party they had the primaries fixed for so early a date that those Democrats who wished to contest their nomination had not sufficient time to present their claims to the voters. The ruse of the Holdfasts did not meet with complete success, however, for several of their number were rejected by the Democratic party. The snap primaries aroused much indignation and the small majorities received by most of the ringsters showed plainly how a large number of Democrats felt over their high-handed action. These independent Democrats have had plenty of time to think the matter over, and the more they think of it between now and the election, the more clearly will they recognize the importance of assisting to break up the court house ring. No one who is in favor of an efficient and economical county administration can conscientiously vote for the members of that ring.

Marriage Experiences.

It was the lot of a young parson to be embarrassed by the appeals of two young women who wanted to marry the same bridegroom. The first comer of these had scarcely told how her faithless lover had actually put up the banns in the East End parish when the delinquent turned up with an idiotic grin on his face and a gayly appareled young woman on his arm. What could the parson—then a young and bashful curate—do but invite the trio into the vestry room, there to discuss the business. Luckily for him, it speedily leaked out that there had been no legal residence in his parish, which afforded him at once a sufficient ground for declining to perform the ceremony.

On another occasion the awful discovery was made that the bride had by accident been described in the marriage license by her pet name. It was suggested that an affidavit of identity sworn at a neighboring police court might repair the blunder. This was done just in time to complete the ceremony within canonical hours, but the accommodating clergyman afterward received a stern admonishment from high quarters "not to do it again."—Cornhill Magazine.

The Care of Brushes.

Do not neglect your paint brushes. Dip them in an old can containing benzine, kerosene or turpentine, then wash thoroughly with soap and hot water. Pearline is even better than soap; it removes the color rapidly and does not injure the bristles if they are well rinsed in clear water afterward. Put your brushes in a jar, handles down, and leave them to dry. One of the oddest sights in an artist's studio is the number of brushes disposed in various artistic bits of pottery in nooks and corners.

Some painters pride themselves on owning many hundreds of brushes of every possible style and size. Handsome brushes are ruined if left dirty; it makes the hairs come out, but the large brushes used in common work will not be injured by being left in water over night if you intend to use them for the same colors next day.

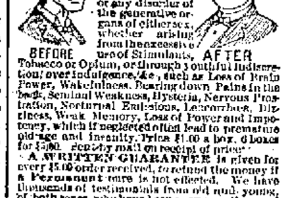

Burn your paint rags when you have done with them. Oily rags are very inflammable and sometimes take fire spontaneously when left in a heap in some corner.—Harper's Young People.

THE RAISIN GROWERS

A Very Warm Session Held Yesterday.

THREE PACKERS BOYCOTTED

Schacht, Lemcke & Steiner, Cook & Langley and Williams, Brown & Co. Declared Out.

There was a warm time yesterday at the meeting of the State Raisin Growers association in Iroquois hall.

The discussions were warm, and the day was the hottest of the year. The mercury in the weather bureau observatory on top of the bank building in a cool location rose to 111 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade, while in the comparatively cool doorways down on the street the unofficial mercury climbed all the way from 114 to 110. At 5 in the afternoon, the usual time for the cooling breezes to arrive, the mercury stood at 108, having wilted only three degrees.

Through the whole day from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. the growers sat patiently, most of them without coats or shirt collars, mopping the perspiration from their shining faces.

The recalcitrant packers who were suspected of having sold raisins short before even the grapes are ripe, appeared before the meeting, and, with the bad luck of the historic Irishman, every time they opened their mouths they put their feet into them.

Captain C. H. Norris, whose voice is as resonant and as stentorian as the roar of a marine fog horn, presided with his usual grace and dignity and poured the oil of suavity on the troubled waters of contention. In this difficult task he was ably assisted by Alexander Gordon, John S. Dore and other cool headed, practical men, and the result was that the association expressed in unequivocal terms its condemnation of the course of the few packers who persisted in holding aloof from the compact.

D. T. Fowler, chairman of the executive committee, read the report of the committee as follows:

THE REPORT.

Your committee would desire to preface this report by expressing the great satisfaction they have in reporting that 95 per cent of the growers of the state have responded to the invitation of the association and signed an agreement (which so far as we know has been most honestly kept,) that they, the growers, will only do business with those packers and commission merchants who have contracted not to sell raisins at any price that will pay the grower less than 4½ cents per pound, the minimum price in the sweat box; and also that the packers, representing a pack of last season of more than 1,500,000 boxes, have contracted with each other and with the growers to maintain this price conditionally, that the assent of 95 per cent of the packers is obtained to the contract.

In order that the situation may be fully understood by growers who have not attended the meetings of the growers, which have been held from time to time, we would state: First—That at a meeting of the growers held in Fresno on June 22d, a resolution was passed authorizing an agreement "sometimes called a petition" between growers and packers, agreeing to maintain a price thereafter to be agreed upon, for raisins as the minimum price in the sweat box.

In pursuance of that resolution these agreements were forwarded by your secretary to every raisin grower in the state, and we are happy to report that they have been signed by owners representing more than 95 per cent of the entire raisin acreage of the state.

On July 16th your committee met the raisin packers at the Hughes hotel in this city, and the result was an agreement, satisfactory alike to your committee, the grower and the packer, was reduced to writing and signed by twenty-two packers, in words as follows:

"We, the undersigned, hereby agree to bind ourselves together as a corporation for the purpose of fixing the minimum prices on various grades of raisins, noting the grower 4½ cents per pound in the sweat box on the average for good raisins, or as much higher as the market will justify, provided that 95 per cent of all the raisins produced be covered by the agreement now being circulated by the growers, and provided that 95 per cent of the pack of the state be represented by said corporation."

We are informed by Mr. Noble of Noble Brothers, chairman of the packers committee, that the packers met and agreed upon a schedule of selling prices, based upon a minimum price of 4½ cents per pound for good raisins in the sweat-box. He writes: "We have now the signatures of twenty-two packers aggregating about 1,500,000 boxes and we have promises of several others who will sign the agreement adopted at last state convention of raisin growers, while some have declined to sign it at all.

We are informed that as soon as the prices agreed upon by a majority of the packers, with the result of the conference were telegraphed east, several orders were taken for carloads of raisins to be delivered in September and October at and above the agreed minimum price, but a few days after some of those packers who had refused to sign the agreement and others who had signed it began cutting prices in the eastern market and competing one with another. This immediately broke the market to a slight extent and now the buyers are waiting in expectation of a further drop.

The party who is the greatest enemy to the raisin industry of this state is the packer who does not join the association, but who takes our raisins to sell on commission or who buys at low prices from the wagon and places them, the raisins, in competition with raisins belonging to the members of the association.

We, your committee, remembering we all have signed the agreement, demand that we all use every lawful means in our power not to give raisins to such packers to handle in any shape or manner, for if we do, it means ruin to our great industry.

As we have referred to a class of packers who have not joined the association, you may justly ask who they are, and in order to give you what we consider direct information, we give a copy of a telegram sent to George Noble, chairman of the Raisin Packers' association by Frank H. Ball, who was sent to San Francisco to get packers signatures. It reads as follows:

"SAN FRANCISCO, August 11, 1892.

"To George E. Noble, Chairman Raisin Packers' Association.

"Notify executive committee of growers and packers that Williams, Brown & Company, Cook & Langley, Schacht, Lemcke and Stiner positively refuse to sign agreement establishing minimum prices."

Now, therefore your committee feel justified in stating to the California State Raisin Growers' association, that they must avoid the firms names in the foregoing telegram, while they remain outside of the association and are cutting prices, we regard them as leeches on the whole community.

From information received we have every reason to believe that large orders have been taken by packers who are not in the agreement. They must have raisins to fill their orders, and if the 95 per cent of the growers hold together in the future as they have in the past, those outside packers will be unable to fill their orders, and will have to come into the compact for relief.

Already the firm attitude taken by the growers has resulted in raising the prices.

We recommend that you, in your general meeting, reaffirm your determination to stand together, and if this is done we all will receive more than the minimum price agreed on for good raisins, namely, 4½ cents per pound.

When the raisins are in the sweat box all the co-operative companies and the packers in the association are prepared to advance to the grower 50 per cent of the graded price, that is, not less than 2¼ cents on all good raisins in the sweat box. All co-operative societies in the state have joined the association.

Respectfully submitted.

CHARLES H. NORRIS,
Chairman Pro Tem.
WILLIAM HARVEY, Secretary.

DRIED GRAPES NOT INCLUDED.

Mr. McCabe asked whether the compact included dried wine grapes as well as raisins, and Mr. Dore replied that raisins were dried Muscats, Malagas and Seedless Sultanas. The association was one of raisin growers, not of wine or table grape men.

Mr. Williams of the packing firm of Williams, Brown & Co., one of the recalcitrant firms, addressed the meeting and said that this firm had already contracted for a large quantity of raisins outside of the compact. He expressed the opinion that only about 60 per cent of the growers have signed the agreement. He had no facts to prove this statement other than that he had met a good many growers who had not signed the agreement. His uncalled for and unfounded remarks upon this matter caused very much indignation.

A FLIMSY EXCUSE.

In response to a question by John S. Dore, Mr. Williams said that his firm had not signed the compact because they were afraid that 4½ cents a pound in the sweat box was too high a price and that it would allow the Spanish raisins to pay a tariff of 2½ cents per pound and undersell the Californian product.

Mr. Williams made a very unfavorable impression as to the sincerity of his remarks.

Mr. Lemcke of the packing firm of Schacht, Lemcke & Steiner really had no logical argument to present. He said that he had never seen a combination that was perfectly satisfactory. There were always some black sheep in it who would get the best of the honest members of it. For that reason he modestly averred that his firm might get left in the lurch if they entered the combination.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the opening of the afternoon session Chairman Norris announced that the association was about $100 in debt for printing, stamps, envelopes and so forth, and a collection of the assessment of 2 cents an acre was called for and was liberally responded to, but fell short of the amount required. At a later stage of the meeting Alexander Goldstein of the firm of Kutner, Goldstein & Co. donated $25. His donation was vehemently applauded.

EFFECT OF ORGANIZATION.

While waiting for the committee of packers to report, John S. Dore made a brief address in which he said that upon every pound of raisins produced in California the united action of the raisin growers as an organization had advanced the price at least 1 cent per pound. The organization has saved to the people at least $300,000 in Fresno county alone. If the raisin growers had been united a year ago $600,000 could be saved this season.

"The other day we heard rumors that prices were being cut, and that a sliding scale of prices ruinous to us was being sent out by some packers. Men who wish to buy raisins as cheply as possible will give out that some one else has offered his product at a lower price and some of the growers unthinkingly become alarmed and accept these reduced prices. The executive committee has sent telegrams to Chicago and New York to obtain accurate information regarding the market," added Mr. Dore.

"In the discussion of the raisin question now going on in the east the subject of the organization of the California raisin growers has been an important factor.

"The time has now come when the packers should receive instructions from the growers as to what they shall do with our raisins. Different packers put up different grades and different brands, and some of these grades they sell at much lower prices. What we want is a uniform brand for the staple article of raisins produced in California."

THE CORINTH RAISIN.

In response to a question, Mr. Fowler said that in the memorial sent to Congress by the association the Zante "currant" was called a raisin and if Congress can be convinced of the fact that the Zante currant is in reality a seedless raisin the duty on raisins can be imposed on the Zante currant without further action.

THE LABOR QUESTION.

In order to fill in time the labor question was taken up. It was announced that Frank Ball and others had been offered Japanese labor at $1.35 to $1.45 per day, they to board themselves, and that the Chinese were demanding $1.50 a day.

Other growers said that the Chinese within the last two or three days had formed a combination and were holding out for $1.75 per day.

W. D. Grady said that A. B. Butler had told him that the Chinese grape pickers were thoroughly organized and that they could not be got for less than $1.05 per day. W. W. Phillips had been obliged the other day to contract for Chinese labor at $1.05.

Alexander Gordon remarked that within the last two days Chinese labor had been offered at $1.50 per day.

A telegram was read from A. B. Butler advising growers not to make contracts at a higher price than $1.25 a day and board, as plenty of white labor at that price could be obtained from the San Francisco labor exchanges.

Captain Norris said that some of the laborers wanted their fares paid from San Francisco, the amount to be deducted out of their first wages.

Alexander Gordon announced that Japanese could be secured at $1.25 per day.

Captain Norris informed the meeting that 1135 growers, representing 41,706¼ acres, had signed the agreement and that that was 95 per cent of the entire acreage.

THE PACKERS' REPORT.

Mr. Noble, of the Packers' conference committee, reported that the packers had met during the afternoon and after considerable discussion agreed to adopt the schedule of prices made in San Francisco on the day before. These prices were slightly lower than those adopted by the packers in Fresno a few weeks ago. The firms of Williams, Brown & Co. and Schacht, Lemcke & Steiner refused to sign any agreement.

They had, however, agreed to maintain the scale of prices made in San Francisco yesterday and also agreed not to cut 10 cents a box off October sales.

"I understand you," asked Chairman Norris, "that Cook & Langley, Williams, Brown & Co., and Schacht, Lemcke & Steiner declined to have anything to do with us in any other matters than those you have stated?"

"Williams told me privately," said Mr. Noble, "that if he was guaranteed 100 carloads on commission he would be ready to sign our agreement."

THE PRICES.

The schedule of prices as read by Mr. Noble was as follows: Clusters $2 per box, 3 crown layers $1.65, 4 crown loose muscatels, faced, $1.45; ditto, unfaced, $1.40; 2 crown London layers $1.45, 2 crown loose muscatels $1.30, 4 crown loose in sacks 5½ cents; 3 crown ditto, 5 cents; 2 crown ditto, 4 cents, third crop, 3½ cents; seedless Muscatels, 5 cents.

"If these prices can be sustained," said R. G. Chaddock, "the growers can realize 4½ cents in the sweat boxes."

"I am sorry, gentlemen, that we have got to fight this battle," said Chairman Norris. "I see that the storm is right upon us and it seems to me if these growers stand by us like men we can weather it out, notwithstanding that these three firms have not been persuaded to join us. I feel very bad about it, and now they have got to take what is coming. Now is the time for every one of you to come right straight up to the [illegible]."

Mr. Williams of Williams, Brown & Co. addressed the convention. He said that Lemcke and himself had agreed to join in the movement if they could get a guarantee of 100 carloads on the commission plan.

D. D. Hudson made a plea on behalf of the recalcitrant packers. They were paying cash for their goods and they could not be expected to sign the agreement while other men were getting goods to sell on commission.

Mr. Curtis said that he had heard that some of the commission men were guaranteeing 5 cents in the sweat box on commission.

Mr. Williams said that he had heard the same thing.

This was denied by several growers present.

Mr. Kittle pointedly asked why the association asked the free packers to guarantee 4½ cents in the sweat box when the Home Packing company and Griffin & Skelly have not guaranteed that they will give the growers even 2 cents a pound. "If they get 95 per cent of the packers will they put up a bond to abide by the agreement?"

Mr. Chaddock said that he believed that his firm were selling at prices that would secure to the growers of old vineyards 5 cents a pound on the first crop, but he did not believe the price could be secured for the product of young vineyards.

Kittle called the attention of the meeting to the manner in which Mr. Chaddock had evaded the question. He "believed" and he "thought" but he did not guarantee 4½ cents.

THE MASK FELL OFF.

"I don't believe," said Mr. Chaddock, "that any of these packers have agreed to guarantee 4½ cents in the sweat box, but we believe that they will try to sell raisins this year at a price that will secure to you these results."

"Yes; that's just it," retorted Kittle, "the believer he will do it: he hopes; it looks like it, but he carefully evades the main issue. I ask him right out will he put up a bond to guarantee even 4 cents a pound? Will he come out and guarantee that and put up bonds? He won't do it!"

After further discussion Kittle, Williams and Lemcke left the hall amid a great uproar.

A grower announced that he had been offered 4¾ cents by a packer outside of the combination and he had refused to sell.

W. D. Grady said that the contracts already made by these packers with the growers were illegal and could not be sustained in the courts.

M. J. Lindrose offered the following resolution:

Whereas, Cook & Langley, Williams, Brown & Co. and Schacht, Lemcke & Steiner have refused to sign the compact,

Resolved, That this convention recommend that every grower in the state refuse to sell to the abovenamed firms their raisins at any price, but on the other hand patronize such packers as have signed the petition.

Mr. Lindrose afterwards withdrew the resolution in favor of the following, which was unanimously adopted:

PLACED ON RECORD.

Whereas, 1135 growers of raisin grapes, representing 41,706¼ acres of bearing vines, have signed the growers' agreement and joined this State Raisin Growers' association, and are pledged upon the honor of each to stand together to protect the mutual interests of all growers; and,

Whereas, We, the California State Raisin Growers' association, in general meeting assembled, representing over 95 per cent of the raisin acreage of the state, have listened to the remarks before the convention of Mr. Williams of Williams, Brown & Co., who also claimed to represent the firm of Cook & Langley, and the remarks of Mr. Lemcke of the firm of Schacht, Lemcke & Steiner; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in our opinion the manner of conducting the raisin business as expounded by the above-named packers is prejudicial to the best interests of the raisin growers, and tends to reduce the price of raisins; further

Resolved, That as long as these firms remain outside of the packers' organization, and refuse to sign the agreement of the other packers of the state to maintain minimum prices, that we, the California State Raisin Growers' association, further bind ourselves neither to sell them our raisins or do business with them in any way; and, be it further

Resolved, That we express our thorough disapprobation and contempt of those firms who are operating in a way that will bring ruin to the raisin industry of the state.

THE ORIGINAL AGREEMENT.

The undersigned raisin packers—in consideration of the sum of $1 each to the other paid, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, and of other good and sufficient consideration—do hereby mutually covenant and agree, each with the others, that they will not during the year ending June 1, 1893, unless authorized so to do by an executive committee to be hereafter elected at a regular meeting of the undersigned, or at a special meeting called for said purpose, sell, or agree to sell, at less than the minimum price hereinafter specified, any of the following packs of raisins, viz:

3-Crown London Layers, box	1.70
2-Crown London Layers, box	1.50
4-Crown loose, unfaced, box	1.45
4-Crown loose, faced, box	1.50
4-Crown loose, sacked, pound	6½
3-Crown loose, sacked, pound	5½
2 Crown loose, sacked, pound	4
3-Crown loose, boxed, box	1.30
Seedless Muscats, pound	4½

It is further mutually covenanted and agreed, by and between the undersigned, that in the event any of the undersigned shall, during that period, violate any of the covenants of this agreement it shall forfeit as liquidated damages to the remainder of the undersigned the sum of two hundred and fifty ($250) dollars on each carload sold below said prices, and said sum shall become immediately due and payable to the remainder of the undersigned upon proof of such violation, and may be collected by an action of debt in any court having jurisdiction, by either of the remainder of the undersigned, in a suit brought in its own name, for its benefit and that of the remainder of the parties to this agreement; and it is further mutually understood and agreed that no defense to such action shall be pleaded or proved, except denial of the violation of this agreement, or of any covenant thereof.

This agreement shall be in full force from and after the 15th day of August, 1892, until June 1, 1893.

Provided: signatures representing 95 per cent of the raisin pack of the state of California be secured, based on the output of last season.

A written notice from the committee, consisting of G. B. Noble, O. B. Olute and F. Romaine, in regard to the percentages of signatures shall be official and binding.

CROP BULLETIN NO. 11.

Concerning Products in Fresno, Merced and Tulare Counties.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau.

Fresno—The week has been cloudless, with temperature about seven degrees below the normal and dews at night, which is delaying ripening of the raisin grape. They should not be picked before September, as the sugar is developing slowly. With the month of September of normal temperature and humidity, raisins should be of fine quality.

Early peaches and pears are about done, although shipments are still made.

Malaga grapes are now being shipped east, and late peaches and pears to follow.

Figs are coming in of fine quality; though they cut no figure commercially, they are a most desirable crop.

The grain harvest is about done and is coming in rapidly.

Highest temperature for the week, 104; lowest temperature for the week, 55, range, 49. J. R. WILLIAMS, Bambaur's Bonds Broken.

The galling bonds of matrimony hitherto binding Maggie T. Bambaur to Rudolph H. Bambaur were legally broken yesterday by Judge Harris, according to the prayer of Maggie, who sought relief in the court an complaint filed therein July 5, 1892. Rudolph failed to appear and judgment by default was entered against him, the court awarding the care and custody of the only child, Grace, aged 17 months, to the mother. No alimony.

STRIKE AT RAYMOND

Forty Stonecutters Quit Work.

THEY WANT AN EIGHT HOUR DAY

And the Same Wages They Received for Nine Hours Work—The Proprietor Assaulted.

Forty stonecutters employed at J. G. Day's granite quarry at Raymond went out on a strike yesterday, says last evening's Madera Mercury. The trouble was caused by a refusal of the men to work nine hours a day.

The men are members of the Stonecutters' union. The rule of the union was that its members should get $4 a day for nine hours' work. The stonecutters in the quarries at San Jose and Rocklin worked under the rules of the union, as did the stonecutters in the Raymond quarry.

Last April the stonecutters at the latter-named place waited upon J. G. Day, the proprietor, and informed him that the union had made a new time schedule which was to go into effect in all the quarries in the state. According to the new schedule the cutters were to work eight hours instead of nine and receive the same wages as under the nine-hour rule. Mr. Day agreed to pay the men $4 a day for eight hours' work as long as the other quarries would be compelled to do the same.

The new rule went into effect on May 1st. A month or so afterwards Mr. Day found that the cutters in the quarries at San Jose and Rocklin were still working nine hours a day, for which they received only $4. He went to his men and stated to them that they would either to have to have the hours of the cutters in the other quarries reduced or else his cutters would be required to work the nine hours the same as the others. He gave them until the 15th instant to adjust the matter, but nothing was done, the men in the other quarries working nine hours the same as usual.

Yesterday was the time fixed for the men to go to work under the old rule of nine hours a day. They were informed that the proprietor could not compete with the other quarry owners who were paying only $4 for nine hours' work if he was obliged to pay the same wages for a day's work of eight hours. The men refused to accede to Mr. Day's request and they struck. Forty stonecutters left work.

Mr. Day was seen in this city today. He was loth to talk about the trouble at the quarry. He stated the facts substantially as related above and added that two or three of the strikers came into his office last night and assaulted him. He defended himself as well as he could. One of the men picked up a coal oil lamp and hit him on the head with it. He was cut badly by the broken glass. He had several other wounds in the head made by the assailants. The men who assaulted him had been drinking and were slightly under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Day said that the assault was made by two or three irresponsible men whose actions, he thought, would not be upheld by the other men engaged in the strike.

"I did not object," said Mr. Day this morning, "to pay $4 a day for eight hours' work if the quarries at Rocklin and San Jose were put under the same rule. The difference in the hours of labor in those quarries and my own made a difference of 12 per cent in contracts in favor of the other quarries. I found I could not successfully compete with the other quarrymen as they had the advantage of the 12 per cent. I told the stonecutters this and signified my willingness to accede to their request and pay them the same rate of wages for eight hours as I had been paying for nine, if the same rule was established in the other quarries with which I had to compete. As they did not establish that rule I did not see why they would refuse to work the same number of hours as the members of their union in the other quarries did. They struck on me, and I will be compelled to put other men in their places. If I can't get men I will send my granite to San Jose to be cut."

Mr. Day spoke modestly about the assault made on him, and said that he had not yet decided whether he would have the men arrested or not.

FRESNO AND MONTEREY

Revival of the Project to Build a Railroad.

THE SUPERVISORS TAKE PART.

Fresno to be Represented by Delegates From Supervisors and Trustees.

H. A. Greene, representing the citizens of Monterey, was in Fresno yesterday in the interests of a railroad connecting the two cities.

His object was to invite the members of the board of supervisors and the city trustees to visit Monterey on Saturday next and become acquainted with their citizens and consult the members of a syndicate who are ready to build the road when a proper understanding is arrived at between the several counties.

Mr. Green has been actively engaged in working up the details of the enterprise, and traveled over the proposed line of the road on his way to Fresno, taking notes and observations.

He appeared before the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon and presented details of the project, and earnestly impressed upon the members the importance of attending the proposed meeting on Saturday next in connection with the city trustees and delegations from boards of supervisors from the counties interested who had been invited and expressed a willingness to attend. He represents the matter in a fair condition to be pushed to success.

Already right of way for over seventy miles of the road has been tendered the projectors, and this almost continuous, and as soon as right of way can be secured and surveys and profiles can be made, a syndicate is ready to build the road.

Colonel W. C. Alberger is the engineer, and has been laboring attentively for several months to bring the matter to an issue. He is the gentleman who negotiated the purchase of the large breweries of this country for the English syndicate, and made the sale. This has put him in a position where he can obtain all the necessary means to build the road, and there will not be more than $20,000 asked from the several counties and individuals after right of way is secured.

Mr. Greene is confident that there will be no trouble in securing right of way, as the people along the proposed route have become enthusiastic in the matter. Mr. Alberger has a proposition which he proposes to submit to those who may attend the meeting next Saturday which will place the matter in a plain business shape.

The road as projected will place Fresno and Monterey only four hours apart. The road will be built by way of Silver creek and Panoche valley, although a shorter route can be had through the Santa Ana and Las Aguilas ranches, by the construction of a long and expensive tunnel.

The members of the board of supervisors became very much interested in the details as presented by Mr. Greene, and if they do not go in a body at least three of them will accept the invitation. Three of the members of the board of city trustees, including Chairman Cole, have also promised to attend.

This proposition is one which does not involve a round sum in the way of a subsidy as has been the case in the building of other roads from Fresno. It will be built and operated by a company on strictly business principles, and so far as is now known will be entirely independent of any other corporation or monopoly. Fresno wants all the railroads she can get, and being centerally located in the great San Joaquin valley people at other points are anxious to have direct communication with her.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE

Of C. W. Hartsough and George Baker at Toll House.

Near the hour of midnight between Tuesday and Wednesday, C. W. Hartsough, mayor of Toll House, heard a commotion in the Baker hotel hen house and he straightway arose from his couch, rushed to the sleeping room of George Baker, his secretary of war, and called him up to duty.

"George, to arms! There is a coon in the hen house."

The secretary being a man of valor, and it being the first opportunity to show his prowess, he rushed out from his sleeping apartment, seized his shotgun, and in his haste neglected to gird his loins and went to the engagement in an abbreviated garment usually worn next to the person.

The mayor and secretary stealthily moved up to the seat of war, the hen house, and with nervous fingers thrust a lighted candle into the dark interior and beheld a coon up in the gables of the hen mansion. It was an aboriginal, or four legged one. The secretary was by this time sufficiently composed to get a bead (if large enough) upon the marauder. Boom! ...t the Toll House, but only a shot and shell one, and down came a crippled coon.

The noise aroused the snoozing inmates of the household and out came males and females—men women and children—to ascertain what the trouble was, and seeing the lighted candle at the hen house all ran thither.

The secretary of war having met all the company the evening before had no desire to meet them in his war costume, and his only escape was to dodge into the hen house and keep company with the wounded coon. The mayor succeeded in inducing the female portion of the community to retire and opened the menagerie, to find the secretary upon the roost with the other rooster and he was soon coaxed off his perch. Result, the coon died.

RAISIN CITY WHEELMEN.

They Unanimously Decide to Enter the League.

The Raisin City wheelmen held a meeting last evening at the Hughes hotel, at which a permanent organization was affected and it was unanimously decided to enter the League of American wheelmen.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. F. Ewing; vice president, B. B. Craig; secretary, E. F. Greeley; financial secretary, Bert Henry; treasurer, George Monroe; captain, A. H. Greeley; trustees, E. R. Higgins, C. K. Kerby, jr., T. G. Hart, M. R. Madary, A. J. Seamens.

A communication was read from Chief Counsel Wright of Stockton, offering to pay the club an official visit and full information on all league business.

The secretary was instructed to accept his invitation and notify all members of the time and place of meeting him.

The Raisin City Wheelmen's club is now fully organized and all local wheelmen who have not as yet joined will find it to their interests to unite with the club.

They expect to fit up club rooms in the near future, and a very pleasant evening can be spent there as they will be nicely furnished for the accommodation of the members.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held on the first Monday in September at a place yet to be provided.

PUBLISHERS ARRESTED.

A. R. Dunbar and Partner Accused of Defrauding Hotels.

A. R. Dunbar, of the firm of Dunbar & Co., publishers of the Fresno City Directory, was arrested yesterday evening for attempting to beat the landlord of the Hughes hotel out a board bill of $17.75, contracted last May.

It is charged that he made an attempt to quit the hotel by dumping his satchel in the alley from his room in the second story, but being advised of the charater of the man Landlord Crank placed a boy in the alley and sent the porter up to his room. His satchel was found packed and was captured by the porter.

To add to Mr. Dunbar's mortification, he, in company with his partner, gave a high-toned dinner, with champagne accompaniment, at the Maison Mitrovich, and when the time of settlement came a bill of some $7 or $8 was confronted with the pitiful sum of $1, and the partner was corraled as a fraud.

These developments brought to light the fact that he was indebted to the proprietor of the Pleasant View hotel to the amount of $20 or $30.

Mr. Crank of the Hughes says that he has Dunbar's satchel, but there is not property to the amount of $5 in it.

A PRIZE FIGHT.

Two Darkies Fight Three Rounds at the Villa.

Last Tuesday evening two young men of sable hue and pugilistic tendencies had a scrap at the Villa, the notorious resort on the fair grounds road.

They had had a discussion concerning the gemination of the canals on Mars, and not being able to settle the dispute with words decided to try to do so with blows.

One of the combatants was the shoe polisher at the Hughes barber shop and the other was a "new coon in town." The fight was with gloves and was witnessed by a small number of spectators.

Three rounds were fought, the bootblack being the victor. The new coon's eyes were decorated with bluish semicircles by his more skillful opponent.

To Quiet Title.

P. de Jesue Ramon has sued Sarah Ramon and J. H. D. Wingfield to quiet title to certain lands described as the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter, northeast quarter of the northwest half of section 31 south, east half of northwest quarter of section 31, in township 13 south, range 19 east. The complaint sets up a title of heirship and asks that the defendant be barred from farther interferences in the premises.

A Replevin Suit.

Matilda Jameson and W. R. Jameson have brought action to recover a wagon, buckboard and several horses and mules, valued in the aggregate at $1000. The property was seized by attachment, and they allege that they have been wrongfully deprived of their property.

Dangerous Stuff to Trifle With.

Says a druggist's assistant: "It is doubtful whether any preparation will remove superfluous hair from the face or neck. This can be done without difficulty by electrolysis, but this is somewhat tedious and painful and few, ladies particularly, care to undergo the operation. There are, however, many preparations which will burn off all hair and very much restrict its growth.

"Barium sulphate is used in nearly all these preparations and seems to have unlimited destructive powers. It is best mixed with a very small quantity of oxide of zinc, and a mixture of these two articles, such as can be obtained at any drug store, is at least as safe a depilatory as any."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Reassuring.

"Have you ever had a wreck, captain?" asked the nervous passenger.

"No, ma'am," replied the officer; "I'm a wreckless man."—Detroit Free Press.

In the Confusion of the Occasion.

A Sussex, England, correspondent announces, on the authority of his vicar, that nine out of ten among the humbler brides swear to "love and honor cherries and a berry," instead of the regular "cherish and obey" of the marriage service.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

STILL UNEXPLORED.

THE LARGEST VOLCANO IN ALASKA DEFIES APPROACH.

Many Attempts Have Been Made to Reach the Giant, but It Lies So Far North That the Absence of Vegetation Has Rendered It Inaccessible.

The grandest mountain of North America has not yet been visited by explorers.

It is an active volcano called Wrangell, located in the interior of Alaska, and its frost wreathed dome forms presumably the apex of the continent.

Mount Wrangell lies about 200 miles north of the celebrated Mount St. Elias and is in the center of a region enshrouded in mystery. Gigantic mountain ranges rise like terraces one upon the other, guarding in their midst this snowy monster of the north.

About forty years ago a party of Russian explorers on the Copper river, of Alaska, first sighted the peak away to the northeast, and being duly impressed with its majesty conferred upon it the title of their honored governor, Baron Wrangell. They made no attempt, however, to reach the mountain, it being in the country of hostile natives and presenting such apparently insurmountable obstacles to approach.

Several other companies of Russians made partial ascents of the Copper river about the same time and met with disaster. One party of seventeen, under Seberinikoff, was massacred by the natives. No new knowledge of the Copper river was obtained, and no approach was made to the volcano.

It was not until 1884 that another attempt was made at exploration in the Copper river region. Then Lieutenant Allen, one of the most daring men who ever entered Alaska, forced his way with several white companions up the Copper nearly to its source and circled half way around the Mount Wrangell district, viewing the mighty peak from a distance of forty or fifty miles, but finding no opportunity to reach and ascend it. Indeed he was on the verge of starvation at the time and it would have been suicide to have attempted to scale the snowclad heights.

The terrible experiences of Allen discouraged further explorations by way of the Copper, and when, in 1890, I entered Alaska for the second time, I attempted to reach Mount Wrangell by a new avenue of approach, viz., from the northeast. This route necessitated an overland march of 300 miles from the Yukon river, and when provisions became exhausted my party was still fully forty miles from the volcano and tangled up in a labyrinth of mountain ranges. Gigantic peaks, snowclad, devoid of vegetation and animal life, barred our progress in front, and an attempt to scale them, with nothing to eat and naught in sight, would have been sheer madness. So a circle was made to the northwest, crossing Allen's trail, and we forced a way to the Yukon, 700 miles distant, barely escaping starvation.

In 1891 Lieutenant Schwatka, famous as an explorer of the Yukon, tried his hand at traversing the southern border of the Mount Wrangell domain. He proceeded overland from Fort Selkirk, on the upper Yukon, piercing an unknown district and emerging on the Copper river south of Mount Wrangell. He also had a close call from starvation.

These few explorations constitute the sum total of the discoveries in the vicinity of Mount Wrangell up to date. Several sketches of the volcano have been made as it appears from a distance, but no accurate information concerning it has yet been obtained.

It appears to be fully as high as Mount St. Elias, and may be even higher. The natives living in the vicinity are superstitiously afraid of venturing near the volcano, and this fact adds to the interest which surrounds it. I believe that Mount Wrangell can be reached by explorers who will establish depots of supplies, projecting one post beyond another and arranging for the systematic forwarding of the provisions to the terminal. No food can be depended upon in this region after leaving the river except that brought in by the explorer. The scaling of Mount Wrangell heights would require many days, but could probably be accomplished.

There is apparently little chance that Mount Wrangell will ever be reached from the direction of Mount St. Elias, that is, from the south. It is proper to state that the region between Mount St. Elias and Mount Wrangell is the only glacier field in Alaska. A few isolated glaciers can be found elsewhere along the coast, but in four-fifths of the interior no snow or ice exists during the summer. A dense wilderness of conifers surrounds the ice region and blankets the country for hundreds of miles eastward. The volcano of Mount Wrangell offers today a unique field for the explorer and the professional mountain climber.—Cincinnati Post.

A Cruel Test.

A good looking, well to do young was being teased by the young ladies of a club for not getting married. He said: "I'll marry the girl of your club whom, on a secret vote, you elect to be my wife." There were nine members of the club. Each girl went into a corner, and used great caution in preparing her ballot, and disguised the handwriting. The result of the vote was that there were nine votes cast, each girl receiving one. The young man remains a bachelor, the club is broken up and the girls are all mortal enemies, united in the one determination that they will never speak to that nasty man again.—Detroit Free Press.

One Day's Liberty.

Mr. Neater—I wish you wouldn't let little Dot play with such a dirty ragamuffin as that boy she is with out there on the street.

Mrs. Neater—Why, that's little Dick, your own son. I've been away all day and he's been doing as he pleased.—Good News.

More Mammoths Found in Siberia.

Owing to the recent discovery of two entire carcasses of mammoths in the district of Irkutsk, Siberia, the St. Petersburg academy of sciences has commissioned professor Tchirski of Irkutsk to proceed to Yakutsk, on the Lena, and thence by pack horses to the Kolyma valley, in order to study the geology of the glacial drift in that little known region, and to make other scientific collections and observations.—London Globe.

A Great Master of English Prose.

The writings of Hawthorne are marked by subtle imagination, curious power of analysis and exquisite purity of diction. His shorter stories are remarkable for originality and suggestiveness and his larger ones are as absolute creations as "Hamlet" or "Undine." Lacking the accomplishment of verse, he was in the highest sense a poet.

A profound anatomist of the h art, he was singularly free from morbidness. He worshiped conscience with his intellectual as well as his moral nature; it is supreme in all he wrote. Beside these mental traits he possessed a grace, a charm, a perfection of charm no other American writer ever possessed in the same degree, and which places him among the great masters of English prose.—Encyclopedia Britannica.

JOY FOR BALDHEADS.

An Invention That Promises to Make Life Worth Living for Many.

The wind has long been tempered to the shorn lamb, but the baldhead has had to take the blasts as they came. No special dispensations in the matter of weather have been made on his account. He has had to look out for himself, and the fact that he survives so numerously is perhaps better evidence of his hustling ability than of his innate goodness. Why, no one appears able to tell, but certain it is that from time immemorial there has been none to do the baldhead reverence.

It will be remembered that when the original baldhead was making his way toward Bethel the children by the wayside requested him to "go up." This expression has no place in modern slang, but compliance with the order doubtless involved a journey to sections not down on our list of desirable habitations. Be that as it may, the fact remains that the caput destitue of hairy adornment has all along been the butt for universal ridicule.

But it is a long lane which has no turning, and the baldhead's turn has come at last. Some enterprising philanthropist has invented a polish for the hairless crown which is warranted to turn it into a thing of beauty and joy forever. This blessing comes in the shape of a polish, which is easily applied by a barber and imparts to the already shining crown a shine so brilliant that it dazzles the eyes and so smooth that upon it no fly can gain a foothold.

Those who have never experienced the joys and sorrows of baldness may not be able to appreciate the value of this discovery. The value is there just the same. With a little care the polish can be made windtight and mosquito proof, and the baldheaded man will no longer fall an easy prey to the influenza laden breezes, while he can lie down to dreams unbroken by the assaults of winged things. Surely the baldhead millennium is at hand.

The direct moral influence of this discovery cannot be overrated. With his sparsely thatched crown protected from the attacks of envious Cascas the baldhead will recover from his tendency toward the use of unauthorized expletives, and he may even rise to the point of taking a front seat in the sanctuary in fly time. Relieved of the necessity for turning his skull into a block upon which to butcher the musca domestica, etc., he will be able to turn his whole thought to the sermon, thus setting a worthy example to the congregation while absorbing truths of which he has long stood in need.

If there is justice in all things, the man who makes two blades of grass grow where one has grown before will have to take a back seat when the inventor of the polish for baldheads comes in for his reward.

Verily, these be glorious times, and the baldhead is one of the chief participators in them.—Troy Times.

Three Humorous Titles.

Among the whimsical titles which appear on the pages of national history, few are more apparently frivolous than the Duke of Marmalade, the Count of Lemonade and the Earl of Brandy. They are, or were, however, real titles, bestowed by a genuine monarch on three of the favorites, and that, too, during the present century. In 1811 a revolution occurred in Hayti, and Christophe, a negro, declared himself emperor. Through conspiracy and plot, his life often attempted, he retained power till 1820, preserving to the last the appearance of a royal court and creating a numerous ability.

Among them were the three already mentioned, and the oddity of the titles has suggested to many writers the frivolousness of the African character. In fact, however, all three names were those of places, the first two being originally plantations, but latterly towns of some importance. This fact not being generally known, a misapprehension has arisen with regard to the titles themselves, which, however absurd, are scarcely more so than some which were bestowed in France and Germany during the Middle Ages.—Boston Transcript.

English Rulers and the Language.

Unlike most other countries England has repeatedly been governed by foreigners, who thought so little of their people that they did not even take the trouble to learn the language of their subjects. Most of the Danish kings knew no English, and if William the Conqueror, William Rufus and others knew the language they kept the fact to themselves.

The early French kings, in fact, regarded England as a conquest and France as their home. Richard I, for instance, spent but a few months of the ten years of his reign on English soil. In modern times George I neither knew nor cared to learn English, and George II spoke it very imperfectly.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Intelligent Ants.

Several species of ants in South America make raids on the black ants, rob them of their larvæ and compel the poor black ants to be their slaves. In the burying of their dead, ants show wonderful intelligence, having cemeteries, and even bury their slaves in a different place from their masters and are quite up in funeral pageantry. Much may be learned from ant life in their wonderful government, sanitary arrangement, common brotherhood, nursing and care of the young, temperance and love of fresh air.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

For Scrofula!

"After suffering for about twenty-five years from scrofulous sores on the legs and arms, trying various medical courses without benefit, I began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and a wonderful cure was the result. Five bottles sufficed to restore me to health."—Bonifacia Lopez, 327 E. Commerce st., San Antonio, Texas.

Catarrh

"My daughter was afflicted for nearly a year with catarrh. The physicians being unable to help her, my pastor recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I followed his advice. Three months of regular treatment with Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's Pills completely restored my daughter's health."—Mrs. Louise Rielle, Little Canada, Ware, Mass.

Rheumatism

"For several years, I was troubled with inflammatory rheumatism, being so bad at times as to be entirely helpless. For the last two years, whenever I felt the effects of the disease, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and have not had a spell for a long time."—E. T. Hansbrough, Elk Run, Va.
